As football songs go, Manchester City's Blue Moon is now synonymous with the club and is every much a part of Manchester City, Maine Road and unexplainable defending. Songs and chants come and go over the years, but this one has stayed with us for so long, that some people can't actually remember its origin. Believe it or not, Blue Moon has been sung by the City faithful for the best part of thirty years, but why did it start and what's the reason? Surely it's not because of the colour blue? Well no, the colour is purely coincidental. For those that know, a blue moon is a rare astronomical event where a full moon appears in the same calendar month twice. A Lunar cycle of four weeks usually means a full moon appears once in the month, so a blue moon is indeed a rarity. Now, or those old enough, cast your mind back to the 80's. During the 1986/87 season, City's away form was so poor that they failed to win a single game on their journeys. Yep, not a single away victory in one season, 9 draws and 12 defeats yet somehow, we still got more points on the road than Aston Villa and Leicester, who also went down with us. In fact, looking back City's last away win before that relegation season was 2-0 at Spurs in January 1986, meaning a total of 41 top flights away games without a win, so by the time City went to Villa Park on 1st April 1990, there was a big chance 41 would become 42, considering City's precarious league position as opposed to title-chasing Villa's. As it turned out, the blues turned on the style in the battle against relegation and won 2-1 and for the first time, Blue Moon rang out in the stands. When asked about the new song that was now echoing around Maine Road and every away venue, the answer was simply because City only win away once in a blue moon, hence the new song. 30 years later, the blues are still going strong and there's not a hint of City giving it up. The anthem 'Blue Moon' originates from the great American song-writing partnership of composer Richard Rodgers and lyricist Lorenz Hart. Over 60 different artists have recorded their own versions of 'Blue Moon', offering a list that is as diverse as it is dazzling. Django Reinhardt, Billie Holiday, Dizzy Gillespie, Louis Armstrong, Julie London, Sam Cooke, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, The Supremes, Bob Dylan, Rod Stewart and many more have also recorded their own take. The song has also featured in films including At The Circus, Viva Las Vegas, Grease and An American Werewolf In London. So, just how did those iconic lyrics become etched into so many City fans' subconscious? The eighties was a time when clubs started to adopt new songs on the then-terraces, rather than chants. Songs like 'Delliah' and 'Always Look On The Bright Side Of Life' are two that did stick around for a while, with 'Delliah' now remaining as Stoke City's anthem of choice. 'Blue Moon' was originally sung by Crewe Alexandra's fans. It was only during the past couple of decades that the Blues adopted it and made it their own. City historical expert Gary James remembers the first time he heard it: "The first time I can ever recall it being sung was at the opening game of the 1989-90 season at Liverpool," he said. "It had never been sung by fans during the seasons before that." "At Anfield, City fans were kept behind for a while after the match and a few lads started singing it as we started to make our way out. They sang a sort of melancholic version, but it caught on." Different versions of 'Blue Moon', by Doves, Supra, The Marcells, Sha Na Na, and Beady Eye are played regularly at the Etihad Stadium throughout the course of a season. But undoubtedly the best and most popular version is when the chorus of Blues raise their arms in the air, hold their scarves aloft and sing the lyrics with all their heart during the 90 minutes of a game. It's a spine-tingling, compelling demonstration of support and loyalty for the club. Who knows what other versions of 'Blue Moon' will lie ahead, but long may the anthem continue. Blue moon, You saw me standing alone Without a dream in my heart Without a love of my own. Blue moon You knew just what I was there for You heard me saying a prayer for Someone I really could care for. And then there suddenly appeared before me The only one my arms will hold I heard somebody whisper please adore me And when I looked, the moon had turned to gold. Blue moon Now I'm no longer alone Without a dream in my heart Without a love of my own. Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart, 1934 © Pick all the languages you want to listen to.
